“Coach Doug Touch.”

Coach Doug has a natural gift of keeping kids engaged and focused, and making each child feel important. In his Challenger Jr. camps, where each camper builds a small rocket, Coach Doug makes sure every rocket launches successfully. In his sports camps, he wants every kid to remember the first time he scored a basket or kicked a soccer ball.

“Coach Doug has a knack for making each and every child feel important and they look up to him and want to try to do their best,” said Cindy Cheamitru, MCRD recreation specialist in Classes and Camps. “Parents really appreciate the way Coach Doug and his staff recognize that each child is different, yet they are all treated equally. Parents always light up when their child gets special recognition and in Doug’s classes, every child gets a daily dose of special recognition.”

Wilson’s secret is commonly known as the “Coach Doug Touch.” He hates to turn any child away from his classes. If he sees children in a center who are not enrolled, he’ll stop the parent and invite them and their child to join for the day. He has a startling number of repeat participants and campers.

“Coach Doug’s top concern is the kids and their parents,” Cheamitru said. “He has given up his free time to help struggling children. He is genuinely interested in kids and they know it, the parents know it and his staff knows it.” .. MCRD Record October 2006 Vol. 1 issue 12
